

Filleigh, South Molton

A tragic fire to the lodge of the Castle Hill estate, which completely burnt out the centre of the building from floor to roof, leaving only the external walls standing, which have structural cracking from the cooling of water from fire hoses.

We are currently working on the reinstatement of the building and also considering options with English Heritage and the local planning authority.

